foxtonreaders

Foxton Readers are a series of carefully graded books aimed at ESL/EAL learners of beginner to advanced levels. They are based on a comprehensive grammar and vocabulary framework to match each ability level and to ensure each learner progresses. They are not only suitable for ESL/EAL learners but can also be used with native speakers of primary and secondary school age.

KEY FEATURES

-  Best quality writing and storytelling
-  Gripping plots and a range of genres
-  Full colour illustrations
-  Suitable for ESL and EAL learners
-  Grammar syllabus for each level
-  Comprehension, grammar and vocabulary tests following each story
-  Teacher's Resource Pack for each level
-  Free online audio files for each title

ESL/EAL LEARNERS

Students with ESL/EAL come from a wide range of different backgrounds, and therefore it is important to offer reading materials which have a broad appeal. Foxtan Readers are based on stories of many different genres so there is something for everyone.

In an ESL/EAL classroom, where teachers normally use an English language text book, the readers are a great resource when you feel you need to do something a little different and change the dynamics of the class.

Research has shown that students who read improve in all other areas of language learning (speaking, listening and writing) and at a faster rate than those who don't read. Of course, reading English also helps students build their vocabulary and develop their grammar knowledge.

For most students, reading a book in English is a difficult task. Too much unknown vocabulary means students stopping frequently to look up words, demotivating them and spoiling their enjoyment of the story. As such, the graded readers are ideal. Students will gain huge confidence from being able to understand real fiction.

Audio files are accessible anywhere and anytime!

HOW THE READERS ARE ORGANISED

Each level of reader has a limited number of headwords as demonstrated on the table on the right. Any difficult words which are essential to the understanding of the story are highlighted at the bottom of the page with their meaning in English. There is also a complete glossary at the back of the book.

Each level of reader is also carefully graded in terms of the grammar. You can view the grammar syllabus for each level on our website at www.foxtonreaders.com

USING THE READERS

Apart from the activities at the back of each book (comprehension, grammar and vocabulary), there are lots of other ways of exploiting the stories in the classroom. Teachers can use the illustrations in the book by getting students to guess what is happening or describing the characters in them.

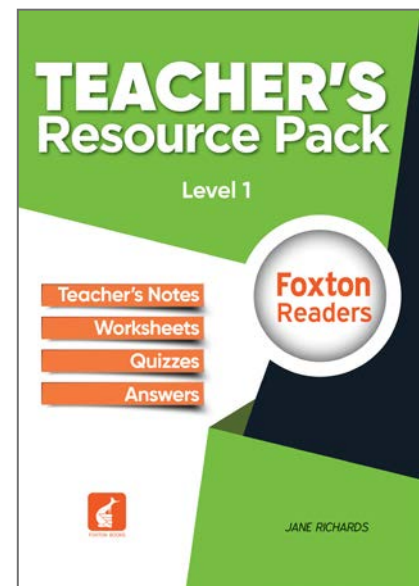

Speaking practice – ask students to carry out role plays based on the characters, discuss questions relating to the story, e.g. Do you think Jim likes Long John Silver at the end of the book? What do you think Alice learns from her adventures? Students can discuss the questions in groups, then share their ideas with the rest of the class.

Writing practice – ask students to write newspaper articles reporting on part of the story, get students to summarise parts of the story in their own words or write their own ending to the story.

The readers can also be used for homework, with students reading a chapter each week for homework. They can compile their own vocabulary notebooks, based on the new words they come across.

CHAPTER 3

Alice talked to all the animals. The animals were Alice's friends. It was like they were her friends from a long time ago. They were all wet and cold.

The Dodo said, "The best thing to get us dry is a Caucus-race."

"What is a Caucus-race?" asked Alice.

"The best way to explain it is to do it," said the Dodo.

First, the Dodo drew lines to make a racecourse. It was like a circle. All the animals stood along the course, here and there. There was no 'One, two, three, go.' They started running when they liked. They stopped when they liked. It was not easy to know when the race was over. They ran for half an hour. They were all dry.

The Dodo shouted "The race is over!"

"But who has won?"

...for water where races take place

14

The Dodo said, "The best thing to get us dry is a Caucus-race."
"What is a Caucus-race?" asked Alice.

Books come with beautiful illustrations to help readers gain a better understanding of the story and make books more fun and easier to read.

Each book comes with a comprehensive grammar and vocabulary framework to match each ability level and make sure every learner is making progress.

For example, a Level-2 book will never have a sentence made with a passive verb or the past perfect tense.

Comprehension, Grammar and Vocabulary quizzes at the back of each book!

TEACHER'S RESOURCE PACKS

Foxton Readers come with Teacher's Resource Packs that contain teacher's notes, worksheets, quizzes and a full answer key to help teachers and students make the most of the learning opportunities that come from reading the stories.

Teacher's Notes

Teacher's Notes provide teachers with useful and practical suggestions on how to use the worksheets in the classroom.

Worksheets

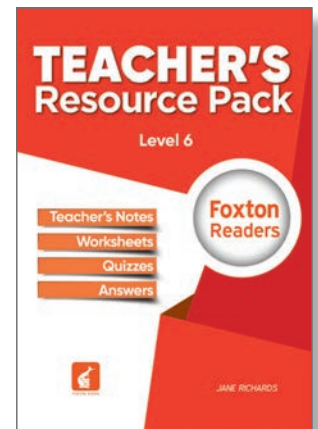

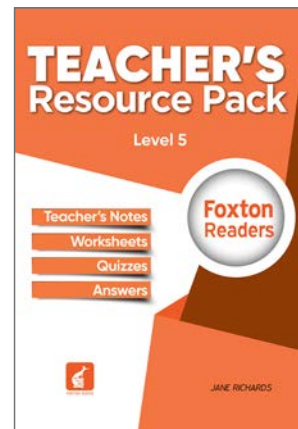

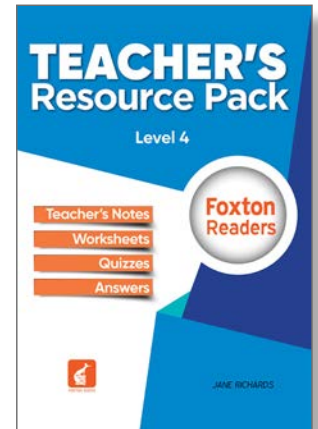

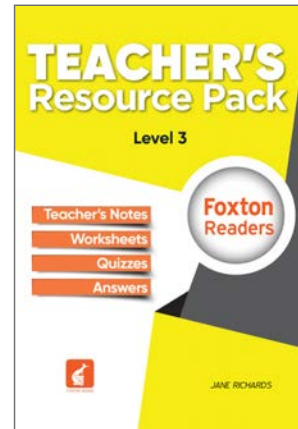

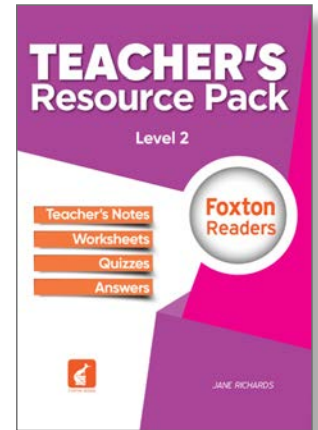

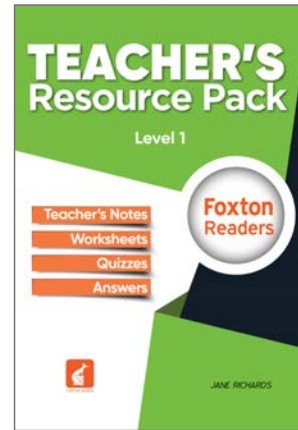

The worksheets include a variety of activities that have been designed to aid comprehension and maximise learning before, during and after reading the story. Times given for each activity are approximate and will vary depending on your class and the time available. Activities are designed to be flexible so that you can adjust them to your particular learning environment.

Quizzes

Grammar, vocabulary and comprehension quizzes test your students' knowledge and understanding at each level and give you the opportunity to explain further if necessary. Answers are given to quizzes so they can be given for self-study or during class. If used in class there is scope for using the quizzes in teams or groups to add a competitive fun element. Quizzes should be used after the book has been completed as they draw on language and knowledge encountered in the story.

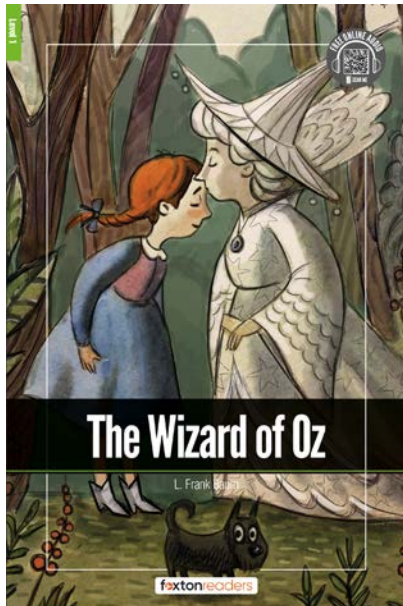

Answer Key

Answers are given to quizzes so they can be given for self-study or during class.

TEACHER'S NOTES

Before Reading

1 The Witches (20 minutes, plus 10-20 minutes for presentations)

This exercise is designed to elicit some of the vocabulary in the story and to start students thinking about predictions. You could get students to do this in pairs or groups. When they have finished, they can present their ideas to the rest of the class or others in their group.

2 and 3 The Wizard (30 minutes)

Make sure students know what a wizard is and ask them to write a short descriptive paragraph. Provide any vocabulary as needed.

In pairs, students read their descriptions to each other while the other draws. Compare pictures with descriptions.

4 Predictions (20 minutes)

Read the questions as a class and make it clear that there are no right or wrong answers – just guesses (predictions). Put students in pairs or small groups to discuss and answer the questions. Ask students to present their ideas to the rest of the class and discuss which ideas are the best/most likely.

While Reading

(10-minute activities)

Encourage students to keep the True/False list nearby as they read and check answers periodically in short classroom activities. This will enable you to monitor progress and clear up any misunderstandings.

After Reading

Yellow Brick Road game

Preparation: photocopy one board game and cut up one set of character cards for each group. Keep the character cards in separate piles (Dorothy, Lion, Scarecrow, Tinman). You also need dice and counters.

Put students in groups of four. Give each group a board game, a set of cards, a dice and four counters. If a group is smaller than four, leave out one of the characters. Explain the rules.

Rules:

- Students decide who is each character (Dorothy, Lion, Scarecrow, Tinman) and place their counters on the corresponding square.
- Place the cards face down on the corresponding place on the board.
- Students take turns to throw the dice and move their counter around the board. The aim is to land on their own character square and collect cards (i.e. Lion must land on Lion square; Tinman on Tinman square)
- When a student lands on their own square, another member of the group takes a card and reads the question to that student. If the student answers correctly they keep the card. If it is wrong, the card goes to the bottom of the pile.
- Each student must collect five character cards. When they have five cards, they continue to throw the dice and move back to their own character square.
- They then continue to throw the dice to follow the Yellow Brick Road to the Emerald City in the centre of the board and claim their prize.

The worksheets include a variety of activities that have been designed to aid comprehension and maximise learning before, during and after reading the story.

Robinson Crusoe by Daniel Defoe

After Reading Activity

A On page 40, Robinson Crusoe met Man Friday for the first time. Friday stayed with Robinson Crusoe. Robinson Crusoe taught Man Friday many things.

- What did Friday learn from Robinson Crusoe?
- What was his life like before they met?
- How was it different afterwards?
- Do you think Friday was happy with his new life?
- What did he miss from his life before?

B You are Man Friday. You want to write a letter to your brother describing your new life. Choose which events you want to tell him about and plan your letter.

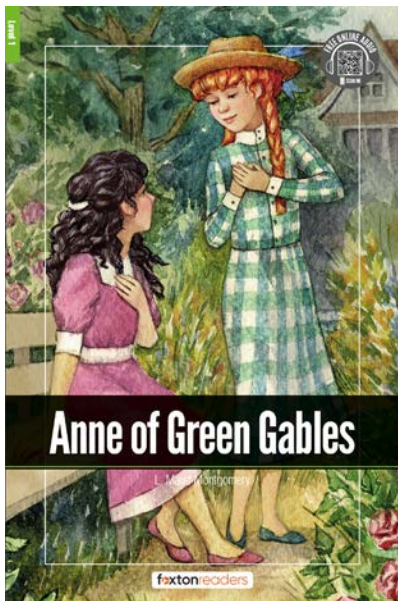

C Write your letter. Begin like this:

Dear brother,

I haven't seen you for many years and I miss you and my family very much. You will not believe all the adventures I have had since I left you.

Comprehension, grammar and vocabulary quizzes test your students' knowledge and understanding at each level and give you the opportunity to explain further if necessary.
